PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCES

Altus Public Schools

January 2025- June 2025

Agricultural Education Instructor (Clinical Teaching), Altus, Oklahoma

Clinical Teaching

- Designed and implemented hands-on agricultural education lessons through a comprehensive curriculum aligned with AFNR Standards, fostering student engagement and knowledge retention.
- Guided students in FFA events, Career Development Events (CDEs), Leadership Development Events (LDEs), and Supervised Agricultural Experience (SAE) which promotes leadership, teamwork, and career readiness.
- Collaborated with the agriculture department to manage classroom projects, supervise livestock handling, and coordinate community outreach programs.
- Established positive, professional relationships with students, parents, and community members by promoting open communication, providing support, and actively engaging in local agricultural events and community initiatives.

Pre-Clinical Teaching

Stillwater Public Schools

- Taught in 9th-grade Ag Introduction class through the use of the AFNR CASE curriculum on water quality, which fostered critical thinking and problem-solving skills in students' learning.
- Taught an 8th-grade Ag Exploration class through the use of the AgXplorer curriculum on food preservation, which was provided by inquiry-based instruction and knowledge expansion.

Classroom and Program Observations

Edmond Public Schools

- Observed and assisted a multi-teacher agricultural education program, attending shows and observing diverse agricultural classes for grades 9th through 12th, gaining insight into classroom management and curriculum delivery across various agricultural subjects.

Jenks Public Schools

- Completed a tour of a large, multi-teacher Ag Ed program to see effective collaboration, resource management, and curriculum differentiation in a suburban setting.

Woodland Public Schools

- Observed and analyzed a rural single-teacher Ag Ed program to gain insight into the distinct opportunities and challenges of delivering well-rounded agricultural education in a close-knit community.

Cypress Fairbanks Public Schools

- Engaged extensively with a four-teacher Ag Ed program, observing diverse instructional approaches, assisting with chapter meetings and livestock shows, and gaining valuable insights into managing a robust agricultural education program.

Norman Public Schools

- Observed a two-teacher Ag Ed program, focusing on 10th-grade students' hands-on learning experiences in greenhouse management and horticulture practices.

Sand Springs Public Schools

- Observed a two-teacher Ag Ed program, including a 12th-grade Agricultural Communications class, where students presented their projects to the class, showcasing skills in public speaking, research, and professional communication.

Stillwater Public Schools

- Analyzed the utilization of agricultural facilities within the educational setting to evaluate their role in enhancing student learning and hands-on experiences.
